The Negroes of the North.

The general good sense displayed by the colored citizens who met last week at Pittsburgh was particularly conspicuous in the refusal of the conference to make itself over to the republican party. The negroes of the North are beginning to see clearly and to say boldly that the alleged debt of gratitude due by their race to the republican party does not amount to political vassalage forever.

Every such declaration of independent manhood is a good sign, for it marks the progress of our colored fellow citizens toward a correct understanding of American principles. There are forms of slavery besides that from which the negroes were emancipated twenty-one years ago. There are shackles not of iron, but of ideas of other than the plantation type.

Let us look at a few of the Northern States which, together, are indispensable to the success of the republican party in a Presidential election. In Connecticut there were, four years ago, 3,533 colored males of the voting age. It is within bounds to put the present colored vote of Connecticut at 3,500. Gen. Garfield carried it by only 2,454 votes.

Indiana is a very close State. By the last census the number of negroes there over twenty-one years of age was 10,739. The transfer of this political strength from one side to the other means a change of 21,000 votes in the result. Garfield carried Indiana by only 4,612.

Illinois has been steadily republican. The negroes of voting age in that State numbered 13,686. Garfield's majority was 13,792. Had 7,000 colored citizens of Illinois transferred their allegiance to the democratic party, Illinois would have been lost to the republicans.

The great State of Pennsylvania is contained 23,892 negroes with votes. Garfield's majority was 14,025. It was in the power of less than one-third of the republican negroes of Pennsylvania to give that State to Hancock by united action against the party which loves them only just before election day.

Gen. Garfield's own State (Ohio) gave him a majority of but 25,155. The census assigns 21,706 possible colored votes to Ohio. Less than 15,000 of these votes would have given the State to the democratic.

New York had in 1880 a colored population including 20,059 males of the age for citizenship. Garfield's majority was 5,862.

We commend these significant figures to our colored friends for careful consideration. Here are six Northern States, with 132 electoral votes out of the total of 401 in the College, all carried four years ago for the republican candidate solely by the negro vote. The time has come around again when the party which assumes to own the negro and his ballot rewards him for the past and entreats him for the future with such empty expressions of solicitude for his welfare as are to be found in the platforms of the conventions. What other recognition has he obtained after twenty-one years of moral and political servitude? Appointment here and there as the alternate to some white delegate to Chicago, and in New Jersey the doubtful honor of being considered a little more respectable than Secor Robeson.—[N. Y. Sun.

She Won't be Interviewed.

As is well known in newspaper circles, Mrs. Langtry this year has not allowed herself to be interviewed. She has even refrained from seeing reporters, and all their cards have been returned with the friendly polite notice that the Lily was engaged. It now appears that a Chicago journalist is to blame for this condition of affairs. A year ago, when she was in the windy city, she was called upon by one of the young men on the Inter Ocean, who chatted very pleasantly with her. All at once he startled her by the request:

"Mrs. Langtry will you be kind enough to show me your face?"

She was so utterly taken aback that she meekly complied with the odd request—which is not so odd for Chicago—but she was shocked and horrified. In her opinion all newspaper men at once became bores and rough creatures who were seeking to say evil things about her, and this explains her positive refusal to be interviewed.

Soon the sweet girl-graduate with cheeks pale from intellectual communings and a judicious touch of chalk, will make the annual trip to the calcium foot-lights and proceed to read her spell bound audience blind with a beautiful essay carefully prepared that she may find no difficulty in reading it by some one else. And then the stunned audience in general, and the young-man-with-the bouquet in particular, will lie awake of nights,

"Much to wonder
How in thunder"

she cornered such an array of big words and waged such unrelenting war on wax at one and the same time.—[Glasgow Times.

Orchard and Garden.

Tomatoes do not need rich ground. Green peas occupy the ground about 70 days.

Now radishes about ten days apart for a succession.

Trim the dead leaves and dry runners from strawberries when planting them.

Use the knife at once on the appearance of black knot on plum or cherry trees.

Rich ground, strong plants and good culture are the surest remedies against lice and worms infesting cabbage.

In planting raspberries and blackberries cut the present canes away entirely, or branches will start from them which will never fruit profitably, and will divert the nutriment that should go towards making strong new canes.

Extending the Season.—Some years the summer is none too long for lima beans. A start of several weeks may be secured for them by planting the seeds under glass, on inverted sod a foot square, transferring them to the garden when hot weather sets in.

Warfare Against the Insects.—In the orchard no quarter must be given to the enemy. The tent-caterpillars presence is easily detected, as the dew on the nests in the morning show them up conspicuously. Every sign of their existence should be destroyed, as can easily be done when they are small. Borer in the trunk near the ground must be probed or cut out. The curculio will begin its work at once, and must be met by shaking the trees and catching the insects on a cloth and killing them.

The New City of Richmond.

Richmond has come up in the past four or five years, chiefly through the manufacture. Without manufactures it is next to useless to expect any full growth town in the South. There is one paper-box factory in the place said to employ 800 hands. The Tredegar works are belching fire and smoke and over across the James river is a large rail works in full blast. Richmond is now solidly built up over the fire space and has delightful aerial parks at both ends of the town, one called Libby Hill, close by the ominous prison of that name, which is still standing. Another park overlooks the Tredegar works and Hollywood cemetery has been extended over the surrounding plain. I found Jeff Davis' mansion, once the Confederate White House, to be a public school and children's voices were ringing through those halls where for years the only conversation was how to destroy what so many patient years and sacrifices had established.—[George Alfred Townsend

A LIE.—This is what Senator Thurman, of Bedford, said when the Senate was considering the bill in regard to fencing the railroads: "I happen to know some thing about that narrow-gauge road in Franklin and Pittsylvania. I do assure gentlemen there is no chance for stock to be killed by that road. If there is a cow in Pittsylvania that can't outrun that concern, it ought to be killed. [Laughter.] The only danger is that the cars will be run over by the cattle. [Great laughter.] My dear sir, they carry a yoke of oxen behind to pull them up the hills. They bring them round and hitch them before the engine. There is no danger to stock. If any hog, horse, cow or sheep is ever overtaken by this train it ought to die." [Merriam.]—[Richmond (Va.) State.

A STRANGE HALUCINATION.—A large and imposing Senator from a Western State was walking up and down the Senate chamber behind the chairs. His hands met at the small of his back and one of them held the other. His step was stately and his head leaned forward a trifle. On his face was the faraway, abstracted expression, which is usually interpreted to mean that the owner of it is in deep thought. On a sofa in a corner of the Senate chamber sat a Senator from another Western State talking to a friend. Pointing to the Senator who was pacing back and forth in full view of the galleries, the sitting Senator said to his friend: "There is a man who is laboring under a very strange hallucination."

"What is it?" inquired the startled friend.

"Why, he thinks he's thinking."—[Washington Republican.

A TRUE WIFE.—Mr. Finks—"May the stars help us! We are ruined!"

Mrs. Finks—"Ruined?"

Mr. Finks—"Yes. I endorsed a note for a friend and all we have is lost!"

Mrs. Finks—"Not all, dear. You know you told me when we were married that if I made my own bonnets I could keep the difference in the expense for myself."

Mr. Finks—"Don't trifle, dear. My liabilities are $50,000 and your little savings on bonnets would only be a drop in the bucket."

Mrs. Finks—"Guess you don't know much about bonnets."

Mr. Finks—"Well, no. How much have you saved?"

Mrs. Finks—"Six hundred and seventy-five thousand dollars."—[Philadelphia Call.

"Yes," said the doctor, "you must prepare yourself for the worst. You cannot live many days. You had better make your will at once." "Make my will," gasped the sick lawyer. "Yes," replied the doctor, gently, "It would be well, I think."

"No," the legal man said, shaking his head, "I will never make a will. My family need what little property I have."

PAINT LICK, GARRARD COUNTY.

—Mrs. Mary Gillespie, an estimable lady, died Thursday night at the age of 94.

—Mr. Will Ward had a fine gelding to the Thursday night caused from an overdose of sulphur.

—As Tyre Best was returning home Friday evening his horse ran off the pike, upset this buggy and completely demolished it.

—Your compositor made us say Mrs. Sallie Ward instead of Miss. The young lady no doubt was somewhat indignant at us, but we beg pardon, it was not our mistake.

—Some of our farmers are planting their corn the second time. They say they don't know whether it is on account of the seed not being good or being planted too deep.

—One of our citizens and a Cincinnati stock man came very near having a serious difficulty a few days ago over a pocket knife. The lie and the d—n lie were given, but before the boys could get together the train started off and that was the reason no blood was spilled, as the Cincinnati man was aboard of the train, and the conductor didn't have time to wait for the fun.

—The house of Mr. Willis Adams, Sr., came very near being burned a few days ago. Two little negroes who live on the farm of Mr. Adams, went to the house to get some fire and as they went out through the wood shed dropped some coals and the dry chips took fire and got into a good blaze, but Mrs. Adams discovered it in time to save the house.

—Mr. Frank Cordier, the photographer, has pitched his tent near the depot and is catching shadows of lakes and lakes. Mr. Willis Adams, Jr., and wife, of Mr. Vernon, are visiting Mr. Willis Adams, Sr. Mr. Pete Hamilton, the fat man, representing the Walter A. Wood harvesters, has kindly consented to loan the McCormack men boxes in which to ship their sample machines back to the manufactory. One would suppose by this that he expects to monopolize the trade.

Cool-Liver Oil.

It is truly a sight to watch the huge puncheons and vats filled with cod livers, and note from day to day how the rays of the sun, pouring their strength upon the mass, gradually decompose it and send the dark, thick, rich oil to the surface. The oil will begin to gather in two or three days, or more quickly if the days are exceedingly hot, when it is dipped up with a ladle and strained, if necessary, into large barrels provided for the purpose. It is generally reckoned that a quintal of fish (pronounced kental) will furnish a gallon of oil, but sometimes the livers are of a poor quality and will not produce so much. At the end of the season the blubber remaining from the livers after all the oil has been extracted is used, boiled, to rub over the roofs of houses, and is an excellent material to prevent the rain from soaking through. It is also saved and fed to dogs during the winter mixed with other food. It is true that Labrador people learn to economize and use even those naturally waste productions, the remnants of their season's profit. You can easily imagine the scene a lively one when thirty or forty men are engaged in putting away a day's catch of some ten or twenty deep-frozen hods, and the stage is filled and covered with men, fish, and oil; yet this work is not hard, except that it requires continued attention.—[Springfield Republican

The committee of elders from the church of which Judge Reid and Mr. Cornelson are both members have subscribed for the latter a very large dish of humble pie, which he must eat in public as an evidence that his heart is again in the right place. Cornelson confesses his sin against God and the church, but still thinks "Bro. Richard Reid" a very sick citizen, who had fairly earned a flogging. Bro. Cornelson is evidently experiencing a change of heart and he begs for time that his reformation may be completely worked out, asking in the meantime "for the prayers of the church in my behalf as a sinner." When Bro. Cornelson consents to order his back to a cowhide in the hands of Bro. Reid and accepts the offer in the letter and spirit of the locusts, the Christian church at Mt. Sterling may fairly regard the stars as restored in all its pristine beauty of brethren dwelling together in peace and love.—[Louisville Times.

At a recent contest in a swimming school at Manchester, England, a young girl swam 600 times around the bath-house, or a distance of eight miles, while the best swimmer among the boys made but 504 rounds.

A Philadelphia girl says when it comes to aught to flirt with but when it comes to marrying she prefers a man who will take pride in seeing well dressed instead of putting all be owns on himself.

GARRARD COUNTY DEPARTMENT.

Lancaster.

—Kindig, of Philadelphia, Penn., purchased a fine gray mare from Wm. Dunn for which he paid $175.

—Mrs. Mary Gillespie died at her home in the upper end of this county on Friday and was buried in the Lancaster cemetery. She was the mother of J. W. Gillespie and leaves a large number of friends and relatives to mourn her loss.

—The Trustees of Lancaster have appropriated enough money to light the streets with gasoline lamps. This will add greatly to the appearance of the place and will render our sidewalks safe on dark nights. They will place 22 lamps upon the Public Square and principal streets.

—Miss Fannie Scott, of Jessamine county, is visiting at J. B. Mason's. Miss Bessie Adams will leave next week to visit Miss Bessie Fogle at Lebanon. Mr. Wm. Owsley, a prominent citizen of Burkesville, is visiting at Judge Owsley's. Mrs. M. S. Granger has returned from the South and will take rooms with Mrs. Jas. Hemphill on Danville street. Mrs. Wm. M. Bogle and Wm. Wherritt, of Stanford, were in town visiting relatives last Saturday. Geo. Denny, Sr., Gen. W. J. Landram and W. H. Kinnaird are spending a few days at London, Ky. Mrs. W. J. Landram is visiting her son Walker, at London.

NEWPORT NEWS.—[Globe,] in the New York Tribune, gives the following rather terse description of the eastern terminus of the Chesapeake & Ohio: "Newport News, Mr. Huntington's new town, consists of an immense elevator and two great double or treble decked docks, at the end of which are thirty feet of water, and of a handsome, well-kept hotel called the Warwick House, which is, I should think, the last place this side of Jacksonville, Fla., to get a well-broiled meal. Last Sunday this house was even full and its steam elevator was running and its luxurious beds were all occupied. There is another hotel belonging to the land company not far away and an embryo town, with magnificent distances between, covers the high level landscape. Many times a day a train leaves the docks near the Warwick House for Old Point Comfort, distant nine miles, skirting the town of Hampton and ending with a station called Phoebus, after Mr. Harrison Phoebus, who has reacquired Old Point and made it a whole Florida under one roof."

One morning in the spring of 1791, General Washington hopped out of bed and began to rummage in the wardrobe.

"What are you seeking, George dear?" queried Mrs. Washington. "Why, those trousers of mine," said the Father of His Country a little testily. "They are on the mantelpiece, my dearest," said Mrs. Washington slyly. "On the mantelpiece?" repeated George. "You are mistaken; I do not see them." "Oh, yes, they are—in substance, at least," returned the Ma of her Country with a gurgling laugh. "I traded them off for those lovely blue vases and that red match-box." With a groan of despair George Washington donned his old winter clothes and went out into the hot, hot world.—[Washington Hatchet.

In the last five or six years the production of iron in all countries has increased by 6,000,000 tons, or more than 43 per cent; the production of steel has increased 3,500,000 tons, or 110 per cent, and the production of coal has increased about 100,000,000 tons, or about 31 per cent. Iron and steel are principally consumed in the manufacture of agencies and instruments for the use of industry and commerce and coal is the source of their principal motive power. The unexampled expansion of industrial activity and trade is thus illustrated by the expansion in the chief universal instrument which they use in their varied creation. No staple products of industry have felt such an expansive force as these.

W. P. WALTON.

THE demand for the old ticket, at least the Tilden part of it, we found by conversing with representative democrats from all over the State, amounts almost to unanimity and had a resolution to instruct for it been offered in the State convention, it would have been carried by a rising vote. No other man has such a hold on the people as Tilden and if he will consent to the use of his name he can be again elected to the office he was not permitted to hold. Since the defeat of the Morrison bill, the call for him has increased and it begins to look like the New York Sun's proposition that the Chicago convention shall nominate him and await his reply will be adopted.

CHAIRMAN WINCHESTER had a rough old experience in presiding over the democratic convention in Frankfort. He had none of the Times' idea of the essentials of a good presiding officer, namely, "a sound liver, a good digestion, a big belly and a voice like that of a boiler manufactory" and consequently the howling mob rode over him in a most disgraceful manner. The treatment he received was not only discourteous in the extreme, but it was cowardly and ungentlemanly and the little faction who engaged in trying to howl him down, ought to be heartily ashamed of themselves.

THE Blue Grass Clipper, published at Midway by Mr. F. L. Spottwood, furnishes its readers with more reading matter than any paper in the State and of the very best character. It sends out as many sheets as the New York Herald and for its chance shows more enterprise than even that great journal. Considering that Midway is a very small town and not a county seat at that, Bro. Spottwood's success is an wonder full as it is great and gratifying.

AFTER the late of June an exemption law, purporting to be for the equalization of exemptions, but really to increase the already long list, will go into effect and the man who credits the average citizen will do so at his own risk. The Legislature should have passed a bill prohibiting the collection of any debt by law hereafter to be constructed. It amounts almost to that any way.

Gen. GRANT having lost his large fortune in stock gambling, some silly sentimentalists are trying to rush a bill through Congress to place him on the retired list of the army with $19,000 a year. It seems to us that the country has more than paid off with filthy lucre any debt of gratitude it may have owed Gen. Grant and that no further aid should be made on the treasury for him.

THE House could not bear the idea of reducing the number of office-holders and in consequence Senator Smith's bill to abolish the railroad commission and transfer its powers to the commissioners of the Sinking Fund, was defeated. It was a good and economic measure and if the members had had the interest of the tax payers at heart, it would have become a law.

THERE is a deficit in the State treasury of $485,000 and to meet it and the numerous, and many of them useless, appropriations made by the Legislature, that body has passed a bill increasing taxation 5 cts. on the $100 for the years 1884 and 1885. This is no doubt the best way out of a very bad condition of affairs, but the yeomanry will not take well to it.

WE join the Louisville Post in the query: why don't the police suppress the Mother Hubbard dresses? They are the flabbiest, meanest, most ungentlemanly, slop, plopy-woppy looking costumes on earth. No husband can have an appetite for breakfast if his wife wears one. It forces him to take a cocktail in order to swallow a single biscuit.

IF Cincinnati keeps on she will have all her bad men in the penitentiary by 1900. The average weekly convictions since the mob number 15 and the work goes nobly on. Saturday's batch was up to the maximum and the sentences ran from three to thirteen years, each man getting the extreme penalty in his case.

THE P. M. General must be a pious chap. He has ordered the name of the postoffice at Dumphool, Tenn., to be changed to Blizard and the people of that section say that if they are not allowed to call their office what they choose, they can still apply its former name with much emphasis to the p. m. g.

THE Legislature voted an appropriation of $1,664.19 to pay for the daily newspapers they have read since the session began. The State should just as well be required to furnish the body with its cigars and this petty grab, although sustained by precedent, is a very mean one.

A NUMBER of Georgia editors are contesting in a prize pedestrian ring. We can't see what on earth an editor wants to learn how to walk for as long as he can get a pass on the cars. The railroads have evidently shut down on the boys.

COL. FRANK WOLFORD has announced his candidacy for a return to Congress and he is mighty apt to get there, even if the clever and popular Col. Thomas Z. Morrow does contest for the prize, as it is reported he will.

THE Legislature was to adjourn yesterday and unless the order was rescinded at the eleventh hour that body is now no more. Praise the Lord, and may He never permit another such to impose itself on the State.

HEWITT is to introduce a tariff bill.

LEGISLATIVE DOINGS.

—Senator Haggard's bill to equalize assessments is now a law.

—Senate bill for the benefit of D. B. Edmiston passed the House.

—A bill to prevent the sale of liquor within two miles of Crab Orchard passed both Houses.

—The House passed a bill requiring counties to purchase their books of record now paid for by the State.

—The House passed the bill allowing jailers 65 cents per day for board of prisoners, an increase of 15 cents.

—The office of the Inspector of mines with a salary of $1,800 is one of the creations of the present assembly. It will be a decided success.

—The State tax on liquor licenses will be $50 hereafter instead of $25 as present, Gov. Knott having signed the bill passed by the Legislature.

—As was expected the Senatorial investigating Committee reported that nobody was guilty either of offering or accepting a bribe in the long drawn out contest.

—The Commissioners for the Eastern Lunatic Asylum appointed by the Governor are A. W. Marshall, Dr. L. B. Todd, Walter Scott, Dr. F. O. Young, W. Larue Thomas and D. D. Laudeman. This Asylum had $37,000 voted to it for repairs a few days ago.

—Both Houses have passed the bill giving the Commissioners power to lease the convicts for employment in mines in addition to the occupations now permitted by law. This will be a solution of the overcrowded penitentiary problem and Gov. Knott will not have to follow in the footsteps of his predecessor.

NOTES OF CURRENT EVENTS.

—The young democrats of Ohio have passed resolutions favoring Tilden for President.

—The remains of Dr. Samuel D. Gross were cremated at LeMoine Crematory, Washington, Pa.

—Lightning struck a mill in North Carolina, killed three men and wounded several others.

—The theatrical event of the season in Louisville is Clara Morris, who is playing there this week.

—James S. Coleman, a leading colored school-master of Laurens county, S. C., was hanged for murder and outrage.

—The liabilities of Grant & Ward are estimated as high as $10,000,000 and the assets believed to be very small.

—During a game of base ball at Chillicothe Friday the grand stand fell and about twenty persons were seriously injured.

—Tracy and Small, two circus men, were given five years each in the penitentiary for highway robbery, by the Winchester court.

—Niles Petty, a negro, charged with outraging Miss Vannest, was taken from the jail at Elizabethtown, Ky., by a masked mob and hanged.

—The boiler of a railroad engine exploded at Parsons, Ky., killing two men and wounding several others. The round-house was completely demolished.

—Jane Edwards, said to be 115 years old, died in the Louisville poor house. She was so shriveled and dried as to be hardly distinguishable from a mummy.

—Fred Hopt, alias Welcome, sentenced to be executed at Salt Lake June 13, electing to be shot instead of hanged, in accordance with a statute, will be allowed the privilege.

—Mr. Morrison and Mr. Blackburn representing the revenue reformers in the House say that no tariff legislation will be reported from the Ways and Means Committee this session.

—Gen. Grant's entire property, it is said, has been swept away. His wife has nobly offered to give up her private property to aid in meeting his debts, but it is objected to by Mr. Vanderbilt and others.

—East Tennessee, Virginia & Georgia R. R. has made arrangements to run over the Kentucky Central from Livingston to Cincinnati and in consequence stock in the latter road has jumped from 60 to 68 cents.

—A Mr. Sterling dispatch says: One hundred and eighty-five moonshiners, guards men and witnesses from Letcher and other counties, left for Covington yesterday. This illicit manufacture is very much on the increase in those counties.

—The Supreme Court of Appeals of Virginia has declared the law providing for the election of registers and judges of election unconstitutional. This places the election machinery of the whole State back in the hands of the constitutionists.

—There are only three nations besides England that practice the policy of free trade, viz: Norway, Turkey, and Switzerland. Russia tried it in 1921, France under the first Napoleon, and Germany under the Anglo-French treaty, but all abandoned it for some reason.

—The assignment of Grant & Ward and Ulysses S. Grant, Ferdinand Ward and Ulysses S. Grant, Jr., and James D. Fish, copartners under the firm name of Grant & Ward, has been filed in New York. The preferred claims, including those given against Jesse R. Grant, amount to about $300,000.

—Gath says that a friend of Mr. Tilden, who sometimes hits the mark told him that when the New York Democratic State Convention meets it will declare its support of Mr. Tilden for President, and that thereupon Mr. Tilden will produce a letter emphatically declining to be the candidate of the party.

—Lewis C. Garrigue has brought suit in the United States Court in Louisville against T. A. Frazier and J. S. Stanley, of Russellville, for $80,000 damages. Garrigue was the republican candidate for Attorney General in this State two years ago. Stanley shot him in the arm at Russellville May 15, 1883. He charges Frazier with conspiring to kill him.

—A New York firm has orders for 1,000,000 torch handles for the use of night political processions in the coming campaign.

—Elliott, the murderer of Barnes in Mercer county, last fall, got only four years, when it is said he should have been hung.

—John F. Slater, a cotton manufacturer at Norwich, Conn., who died last week, gave $1,000,000 in 1882 for the education of Southern negroes.

—More than two-thirds of Texas and Madison parishes, La., are under water and live stock is perishing from starvation and buffalo gnats.

—The private watchman at the Atlantic Garden, Cincinnati, shot Thomas McElmott dead for a very slight provocation. Let the mob investigate the case.

—Over 100,000 persons are thrown out of work and $100,000 loss is entailed by the burning of the Narragansett (Mass) Suspenders Company's works on Saturday.

—Capt. B. N. Adams, assistant superintendent of the government canal works at Louisville, was instantly killed. His steamer yacht got caught between a wharf boat and the steamer Guthrie and Capt. Adams' head became fastened between the roof of the boat and the wharf and his neck was broken.

—A New York telegram says: "During the past few days it has been quietly given out by men known to be in Tilden's confidence, that the old gentleman had allowed his stubbornness to soften down, and would, undoubtedly, before long find it politic and possible to retract his positive words of refusal."

—Five out of the six Michigan democrats in Congress have decided to inform their constituents that in their opinion the only way to save the democratic party is to nominate Speaker Carlisle for the Presidency. They will issue an address embodying their views, and will endeavor to secure a delegation for Carlisle at Chicago.

—James B. Garrison, the living skeleton who married Bertha E. Clear of Hesterville while he was on exhibition at the dime museum in Philadelphia, died last week at Union. He took his separation from his bride of a night very much to heart, and went under the care of a physician almost as soon as the suit to annul their marriage was entered.

—The episode of yesterday is but the beginning, not the end. The battle is yet to open. Though baffled in the preliminary skirmish, the adherents of the just and honest measures which yesterday suffered death by the guillotine have no cause for alarm or discouragement. If ever there was a defeat out of which the vanquished could draw consolation in abundant measure, it is this: if ever a victory beving naught but Dead Sea fruit to the victors, this is it. The advocates of tariff reform now appear from Washington to Chicago, from the House of Representatives to the Democratic National Convention, from Congress to the country, confident that they will be overwhelmingly indorsed, not only by the democratic party, but by the people at large. (Washington Post.)

DANVILLE, BOYLE COUNTY.

—The meeting which began at the Walnut street M. E. church Sunday week under the preaching of Rev. G. I. Kelley, of Covington, still continues. Preaching Elder, Rev. J. Rand, conducted the services yesterday (Sunday). There have been nine additional thus far.

—Mr. F. Yeiser, the Main street jeweler, has invented a transit instrument which is so simple in its mechanism that it can be understood and manipulated by any person of ordinary intelligence. By it the true time can be ascertained as accurately as by a sundial. It is the intention of the inventor to apply for a patent.

—Sunday's papers in speaking of the party of convicts who killed the guard last week, refer to Henry Smith sent from Boyle county for two years for killing a woman, as the man who did the actual killing. This is a mistake, a negro named Henry Smith was sent from here last February for two years for house-breaking. A colored boy named Charles Lytle was sent up at the same term for two years for killing a woman named Mollie Bruce. Smith was a stranger in Boyle county and Lytle belonged here.

—Mr. W. P. Speed, late travelling agent for the Cincinnati, N. O. and T. P. R. R., is still resting on his oars. He has received two offers of employment from different corporations but has not yet decided to accept either. Mr. Thos. H. Swope, a native of Boyle county, but who has made his home a greater part of the time for a number of years at Kansas City, is here. The magnificent chandelier recently put up in the First Presbyterian church is the gift of Mr. Swope. Mr. Leslie Cox, who has been visiting his parents in Cincinnati for two weeks past, returned Saturday. Judge M. H. Owsley passed through town Monday morning on his way to Monticello, Wayne county, where Circuit Court is in session.

—Henry Kindig, of York, Pa., bought on Friday from Brewer, of Parkville, a five-year-old black gelding 15 hands, 3 inches high for $125; of Wm. Hutchings a bay gelding 15 hands 3 inches high, can pull a buggy in 3 minutes and is yet untrained for $250; from an unknown party in Garrard county an iron gray mare 5 years old, 15 hands 3 inches high, fine style and gait for $175; from Carpenter Bros., Hustonville, a bay coach horse, 6 years old, 16 hands high, a nice gentle driver for $250; from Wakefield, Farris & Gilmore, a bay gelding 16 hands 1 inch high, 6 years old for $215. This horse is finely bred and very cheap at the price. From Moreland, of Moreland Station, a bay mare 6 years old, 15 hands 3 inches high for $200; an extra road mare.

HUSTONVILLE, LINCOLN COUNTY.

—Col. J. W. Weatherford and J. J. Dye left yesterday for Colorado, with a view to change of base.

—The quilt sale by the ladies of the Christian church on Saturday resulted satisfactorily. The worsted "crazy" was sold to J. J. Dye for $17. Not being able to attend I have not a report of the sales.

—Papers from G. O. B., London, are arriving pretty regularly. The agony of the British nation is a sort of hi-farated affair. The politicians are dodging dynamite—the ecclesiastics are in terror of the evangelists. —Bill Williams has taken a leave on all the country roads, intending to utilize them as trotting tracks for the traction engine. It is whispered that with admirable forecast he has formed a partnership with the undertaker.

—Society as such is in an unusually quiet condition. We hear of a dancing-master proposing "to teach the young idea how to kick" somebody, but know nothing of his success. The thing is encouraging, however, as it indicates a disposition to commence at the foundation and build education from the ground up.

—J. C. Young appeared by invitation at the Christian church on Sunday afternoon and notwithstanding the notice was but partially circulated, he had a large audience. It is needless to add that he gave universal satisfaction. The invitation was urgently repeated and he consented to return on next Sunday. Services at 3 P. M. and at night.

Saw Mill For Sale!

Having determined to change my business, I offer for sale my saw mill, situated on Kentucky river in Casey county, Ky. The mill is a stationary roller mill, 10x24, 10x20, 10x18, 10x16, 10x14, 10x12, 10x10, 10x8, 10x6, 10x4, 10x2, 10x1, 10x0.5, 10x0.25, 10x0.125, 10x0.0625, 10x0.03125, 10x0.015625, 10x0.0078125,
